Denison dentist receives fellowship

Denison dentist Robert Steele, DDS has received the prestigious Fellowship Award from the Academy of General Dentistry. The award was presented at the AGD's convocation ceremony, held during the AGD's Annual Meeting & exhibits in Orlando, Fla. Steele accepted the award along with more than 240 other recipients.

The Fellowship Award is presented to dentists working to provide the highest quality of dental care by remaining current in their profession. In order to receive the award, Steele completed 500 hours of continuing dental education, passed a comprehensive written exam and fulfilled three years of continuing membership with the AGD.

"Dr. Steele's accomplishment shows his allegiance to the profession and commitment to ensuring his patients receive excellent oral health care," says AGD President Paula Jones, DDS, FAGD. "The challenging process of becoming a Fellow exemplifies Dr. Steele's dedication to continuing education and distinguishes him professionally in the dental community."

Steele graduated from Baylor College of Dentistry in 1992. In addition to the AGD, he is a member of the Texas Dental Association, the Academy of Laser Dentistry and the American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry. He and his wife, Michele, live in Pottsboro and have two sons.
